Excerpts from the (ISC)2 Official Chapter Handbook

Code of Ethics

All (ISC)² chapter members must agree to the (ISC)² Code of Ethics and are required to adhere to the highest standards of ethical behavior and act honestly and responsibly to protect the common good. (ISC)² chapter members who intentionally or knowingly violate any provision of the Code will be subject to action by a peer review panel, which may result in the revocation of certification (if applicable). (ISC)² chapter members are obligated to follow the ethics complaint procedure upon observing any action by an (ISC)² chapter member that breach the Code. Failure to do so may be considered a breach of the Code pursuant to Canon IV.

Conflict of Interest

Chapter members should refrain from promoting or advancing commercial and/or political agendas, including the promotion of any outside organization, to the chapter membership. Only organizations sponsoring chapter events and activities may be promoted during the sponsored event/activity and subject to guidelines as set by the chapter.

Remember, the chapter is established to promote the ideas and interests of (ISC)², and not other organizations. Chapter members may not use their work status as a means to influence the political agenda or structure of the organization. All too often, people use their day-to-day business contacts as a means to persuade or promote his/her interests in the chapter. While promotion and sponsorship with an outside organization is acceptable, the chapter members may not use these connections for political gain inside the organization. Officers and directors must not exercise their authority for their own monetary gain or benefit or that of a third party. Chapter leaders shall place the interest of the chapter first.

Chapter Membership

A member of (ISC)² is a professional who holds one or more of the following (ISC)² credentials:

CAP, CCFP, CCSP, CISSP, CSSLP, HCISPP and SSCP. (ISC)² Chapters not only consist of (ISC)² members, but also individuals who have an interest in, or professional connection to, cyber, information, software and infrastructure security issues and related certification programs as the chapter sees fit to permit within its membership base. However, the chapter shall not knowingly allow the following as members:

- a) any person convicted of criminal activity or conduct that is considered contrary to community standards of justice, honesty or good morals in the past four years
- b) any person convicted at any time of any crime of violence, fraud, embezzlement, murder, rape or any form of computer related crime
- c) any person decertified by (ISC)² for ethics violation

All chapter members shall abide by the (ISC)² Code of Ethics. Membership in the chapter shall not require membership in (ISC)² and shall not confer membership in (ISC)² on any chapter member. The chapter shall make it clear in all of its membership solicitation and outreach, including a statement on its website if one is maintained, that membership in (ISC)² is separate from, and unrelated to, chapter membership.
